

With so many ways to get connected, here's where you can start today:

TVA INNOVATION AND RESEARCH

Connected Communities Resources

June 2023

Connected Communities are towns, main streets, neighborhoods and cities in the TVA service region using technology and data-related solutions to address community challenges and prepare for a modern energy system.

While the specific solutions may look different from community to community, the process to implement these projects follows a standard framework and roadmap. The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) partners with a diverse group of stakeholders to develop materials that help communities identify areas of need and develop projects to transform the lives of those living within TVA's service region.

Anchored in research from across the country, trends from our region and the focus areas most important to our communities, TVA is providing resources and tools to help your community leverage technology to provide broadband and digital literacy, economic empowerment, energy and environmental justice and enhanced community resiliency for everyone.

Available Resources

Off-the-Shelf Resources

These resources include reports, guides and research that communities can download from the Connected Communities website and use as their own pace. The documents provide helpful information for communities to use in addition to other, external resources for consideration.

Pilot Projects and Funding Opportunities

Connected Communities helps provide funding for related pilot projects to help communities implement their own projects that address one of the four focus areas. Additionally, Connected Communities provides an updated Funding Database that includes up-to-date information on funding opportunities and can be searched by focus area.

Hands-On Support

For a small number of communities, Connected Communities provides hands-on support and assistance in identifying, developing and executing projects that touch on one of the focus areas. This support helps communities that may lack the resources necessary to begin a community-wide effort.
